My suggestions for stalls, displays or information on the day are:

What's on...

Has the credit crunch got you down? Do you want to make sure that you and your family are doing the best that you can in these troubled times?

Then why not attend the Customer Celebration Day and give your family a "health check" on everything from finances to healthy living and eating!

There will be stalls from a wide variety of organisations offering help and advice, and lots of activities for the whole family – everything from face painting, arts and crafts, and clowns through to file and polishes and armchair exercise!

Green Vale Homes will be on hand to provide information and advice, and there will be a number of ways – everything from drop in sessions to a video diary – for you to share your views and help us to shape your service. Rather than organise two separate events we will also hold our Annual General Meeting on the day!
