

Reading PDF files using Browsealoud

Hyperlinks will be identified by the voice telling you to click here for further details when you hover over the link.

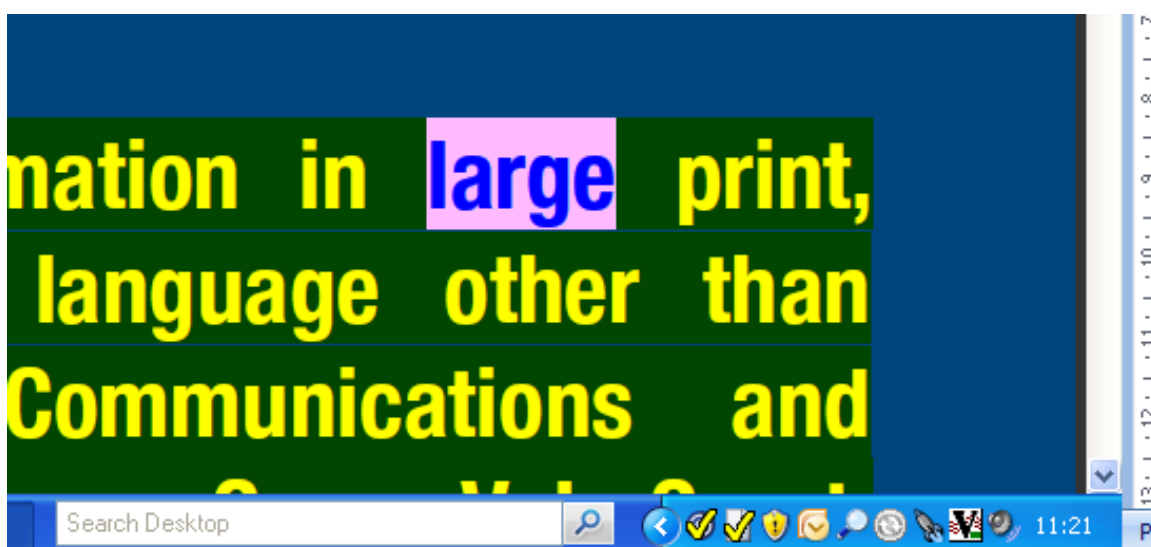

If the hyperlink takes you to a document in PDF Format the Browsealoud will not function as before until you have followed these steps:

Open the link by clicking on it; this will create a paper icon on the task bar, double click the paper icon on the task bar.

A new larger PDF file will open. You will now be able to read the PDF file as you would any other part of the website.

When you have finished reading the document, close the page twice. This action will take you back to the website.
